DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed 7/1/04 has been considered in preparing this Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ugajin et al (6,268,869 hereinafter "Ugajin") in view of Moriya (6,449,687).

Ugajin teaches a consecutive reading method for a computer game (Fig. 1) for reading field data (graphics data and texture data) from a storage device (23) into a memory (5 and 11) in a computer, comprising reading (16 and 10) the field data to be resident in memory and displayed on a monitor screen (22). It is noted that Ugajin fails explicitly teach or suggest that deleting segment field data selected based on the player's position from the resident in memory and reading new segment field data into memory based on the player's position. This is what Moriya teaches. Moriya teaches at the time a new stage is started (in a new position), the content of the RAM (Fig. 5, 22) is updated which means the old data in the memory is replaced by the new data (col. 6, line 1 to col. 7, line 23). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made to combine the teachings of Moriya into the system of Ugajin in order to replace old memory information by the new information and then display in the screen when the player move from one position to another (such as, from one stage to another in the game when the player is progressing). Therefore, at least claims 1, 2 and 7 would have been obvious.

As per claims 3 and 4, Ugajin fails to explicitly teach or suggest the size of field data in units of segments and sectors. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made to modify the teachings of Ugajin in order to read data in the speed corresponding to the change of the game, the player's progress from one scene to another. Therefore, at least claims 3 and 4 would have been obvious.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 7/1/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's arguments that in Moriya, the plurality of field data are not resident in the memory and the segment field data to be deleted is not selected from plurality of segment field data based on the player's position. The examiner disagrees. Moriya clearly teaches, "at the time a new stage is started (is considered as in a new position), the content of the RAM (Fig. 5, 22) is updated which means the old data in the memory is replaced by the new data which corresponds to the new stage or position (col. 6, line

1 to col. 7, line 23 and figures 6A - 21)." Therefore, applicant's arguments are not deemed to be persuasive.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
